

DE NEDREY DEFENDS TEMPLE OF LABOR

Champion Receives Gold
Watch in Recognition of Services.

For three hours last night the Central Labor Union debated the report of the committee appointed to investigate the plans of the National Temple of Labor Association. This debate was one of the most heated in the history of that body, and the two opposing factions were bitter.

Sam DeNedrey finished his address in defense of the temple, which was continued over from June 15, when half the delegates on the floor yielded their time. He went carefully through the report, and carefully extracted its sting.

Upon the conclusion of his address he was presented by his colleagues with a handsome gold watch for his services in the labor movement and for his able defense. With J. J. Purcell he will leave Washington Thursday for Denver to attend the Democratic convention as a delegate from the District.

Brinkman Makes Attack.

John H. Brinkman, who wrote the report of the investigating committee, then took the floor. He attacked the methods of the Temple Association, declaring that the plans being worked out were impractical. He declared that the association had been mistaken in its judgment on many points of importance, and while he was in favor of the erection of a Temple of Labor in the National Capital, he did not think it could be successfully done along the lines being pursued.

"I believe that here at the seat of the Federal Government there should be a Temple of Labor," he said, "but I don't believe the Central Labor Union, or even the American Federation of Labor, can build it independently, but it must be done through the co-operation of the entire labor movement."

"There is not a word in the offering agreement about the employment of union labor. It does not say that all cigars must be made by members of the Cigar Makers' Union. But instead the association guarantees to take off Mr. Otterdinger's hands all boxes, bands, ribbons, labels, etc., he makes for them. I believe that if the association is solvent it can be held not only on this contract, but on that with Robert Emmet O'Brien, which I say it could not annul without some reason that is not clear."

Non-Union Solicitors.

Mr. Brinkman criticized the association for employing solicitors not members of organized labor, or paid agents. A large donation had been received by one of these agents, he said, which was not on the books of the association. Mr. Brinkman questioned members of the association at length on various points made by him. He declared that he could see no reason why P. A. Pfau should get one-half of the commissions of R. G. M. Ross.

It is expected that the committee's recommendation that the entire matter be referred to the American Federation for endorsement or action will be voted upon at the next meeting.

EFFECTIVE MUZZLE MADE IN ENGLAND

Has All of the Features Necessary for Comfort of Dog, Combined With Strength.

An effective muzzle, and one that has had much to do with stamping out the rabies in Great Britain, is the Garstin muzzle, made in London, a picture of which is shown herewith. These muzzles are not now on sale in this country, so far as known, but some designs approaching them in effectiveness are manufactured in this country. The Garstin muzzle is easily adjusted by the strap which goes around the dog's neck, and does not in the least bind the mouth so that he can not easily breathe, an important consideration, according to the statement of scientists.

The muzzle is a thorough protection, and makes it impossible for a dog to bite anyone while wearing it.

Haiti Tenders Gift to Institution.

The United States National Museum has just received as a gift from J. N. Legor, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary from Haiti to the United States, a case which contains models representing over a hundred different fruits of Haiti arranged for exhibition purposes.

This collection of models of fruits and vegetables, which was exhibited at Jamestown, is probably the most complete series of its kind that has ever been prepared. The fruits of Haiti include many forms that are rarely seen in this country, and the set of models can not fail to be of interest.

The following are the names of the most curious fruits of the island: casheew, ginger plant, alligator pear, castor oil seed, custard apple, pomegranate, guava, tamarind, naseberry, and a large green bread fruit.

DIAMOND

MUNICH

An Interesting Fact

ARE YOU aware of the fact that fifteen glasses of American brewed beer contain less alcohol to intoxicate than a single whisky glass of ardent spirits?

Beer drinking in moderation effectively promotes the cause of true temperance. But this can be truthfully said only of such beers as our Diamond, Munich, and Golden Eagle Lager—beers that are properly brewed and properly aged.

Remember, good beer cannot be sold at prices for which some beers are offered in this city.
